Rotation sensor

This piece separates the linear movement from the angular one.
It has springs inside in both directions, to bring the device back to rest possition.

Slide potentiomenter for lienar movement